RIOUX & COMPANY, LLC

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies:

Organization - Rioux & Company, LLC (the Company) was formed on April 25, 1996 as a limited liability company under the laws of the State of Connecticut. As such, the owners (the Members) are not liable for the debts of the Company. The latest date upon which the Company is to dissolve is March 31, 2026.

Nature of Operations - As a securities broker and dealer and an investment advisor, the Company is engaged in various securities trading and brokerage activities servicing a diverse group of individual investors. The Company is exposed to credit risk associated with the nonperformance of these customers in fulfilling their contractual obligations. The Company has a policy of reviewing, as considered necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty and customer with which it conducts business.

The Company is an introducing broker that provides local administrative services under an agreement with a carrying broker. The carrying broker executes all securities transactions and maintains record keeping for all customer accounts on behalf of the Company.

Revenue Recognition - Securities transactions (and related commission revenue and expense) are recorded on a trade date basis.

Property and Equipment - Depreciation of office equipment, furniture and fixtures is provided on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which are five years for office equipment and seven years for furniture and fixtures.

Amortization of leasehold improvements is provided on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease.

Balances of major classes of assets and accumulated depreciation and amortization as of December 31, 2002 and 2001, are as follows:

	2002	2001
Furniture and fixtures	$ 24,797	$ 23,872
Office equipment	2,500	2,500
Leasehold improvements	6,998	5,055
	34,295	31,427
Less accumulated depreciation and amortization	24,490	21,186
Net Property and Equipment	$ 9,805	$ 10,241

Income Taxes - The Company has elected to be treated as a limited liability company under the Internal Revenue Code, having the Company's income treated for federal income tax purposes substantially as if the Company were a partnership. The Members' respective equitable shares in the net income of the Company are reportable on their individual tax returns. Accordingly, the financial statements reflect no provision or liability for federal or state income taxes.

Leases - Rentals pertaining to noncapitalized lease agreements that convey merely the right to use property are charged to income as incurred.

Cash - The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts that, at times, may exceed insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts. The Company believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash.

Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions. Those estimates and assumptions affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 2 - Net Capital:

Pursuant to the net capital provisions of Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital as defined under such provisions. Net capital and the related net capital ratio may fluctuate on a daily basis. At December 31, 2002, the Company had net capital and minimum net capital requirements of $47,948 and $5,000, respectively. The Company's net capital ratio was .19 to 1. The net capital rules may effectively restrict the payment of cash dividends should the net capital ratio exceed 10 to 1.

Note 3 - Lease Commitment:

The Company's lease for office space ended during 2001. At the end of 2001, the Company occupied a new office space location as a tenant-at-will. As of January 1, 2002 the Company transitioned into an oral agreement to lease the current office space indefinitely. Rental expense for the years ended December 31, 2002 and 2001, was $8,697 and $6,101, respectively.

Note 4 - Financial Instruments with Off-Balance-Sheet Credit Risk:

The majority of the Company's transactions are cleared through a broker on a fully disclosed basis; therefore, the Company does not carry customer accounts.

In the normal course of business, the Company and its customers rely on the clearing broker and other brokers for the execution, and the clearing broker for settlement, of various customer security transactions. These activities may expose the Company to off-balance-sheet risk in the event the customer or broker is unable to fulfill its contracted obligations. In the event of such failure, the Company would have recourse to the party at fault. In addition, the Company has a policy of reviewing, as considered necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty and customer with which it conducts business.

To the Members
Rioux & Company, LLC
Bristol, Connecticut

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedule of Rioux & Company, LLC, for the year ended December 31, 2002, we considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that the practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2002 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the SEC, the NASD and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
